Dear Guy:

We have selected Monday, 15 February 1965, for the second Boston Dinner. I gather that you may have a conflict of engagements on that date. If your schedule should change, even at the last minute, we would be delighted to have you join us at the MIT Faculty Club at 6:30 P.M. that evening. If not, I can bring you up to date during your next visit to Washington.

Sincerely,

Dear Bill:

WE Have selected Monday, 15 February 1965,
for the second Boston Dinner Meeting, and I believe that this date is already on your calendar. As before, we plan to meet at the MIT Faculty Club in Dining Room Three at 6:30 P.M. for cocktails and dinner.

I shall look forward to seeing you then and a vigorous discussion of several technical programs now in train.

Sincerely,
